

This folder contains example statements of academic purpose, curriculum vitae, and emails to professors, compiled by current NYU Ph.D. students. Some students have chosen to remove personal details from these documents to maintain privacy.

We encourage you to read through some of these examples as you prepare your own application materials. We prioritize academic integrity in all aspects of our scholarship and look for applicants who do the same. As such, we encourage you to use these documents only as examples to get a sense of what the materials may look like. Please avoid plagiarizing the work represented here, including presenting others' words, ideas, or experiences as though they were your own. Plagiarism is a form of fraud. We all stand on the shoulders of others. We offer this resource openly to the community and expect that all those who use it do so with respect to these standards of academic integrity. Copying (or copying and "rephrasing") any parts of materials here will jeopardize your chance of admission to graduate programs in the USA or abroad.

We recommend that you browse the materials here to get a sense of the type of information that is typically included in Ph.D. applications. Then, close those documents before you sit down to work on your own materials.

Thank you and good luck!
